

Alerts

FT content you want in the way you want

Set up your account with alerting tools to easily find relevant news articles when they are published.

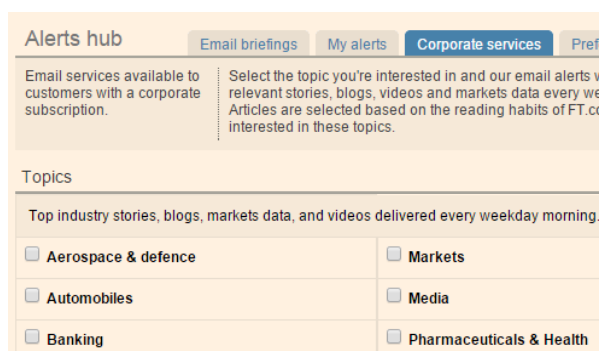

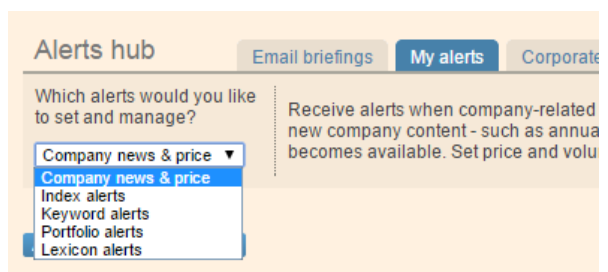

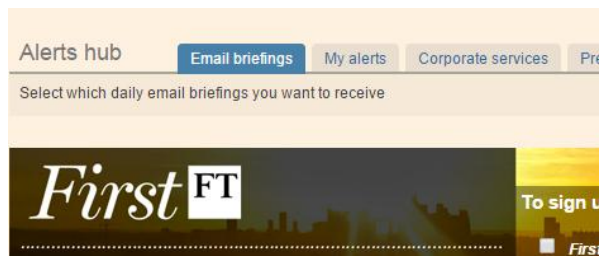

Email alerts

Use the “Tools” drop-down menu on the right hand side and select “Email briefings”. You will find a selection of daily email briefings you can subscribe to, including FirstFT.

Under “My Alerts” tab, you can create your own email alerts: follow companies, create up to 30 keyword alerts or set up your account to receive notifications regarding your portfolio.

As part of your subscription service, you will receive a daily email with the latest business and world news, based on the information provided when you signed up. You can change your preferences, including the type of content and the time of delivery, under the “Corporate services” tab.

Under “Preferences” you can manage your alerts by deactivating them all or using the “vacation” option for set dates. You can also set up a secondary email address to receive your alerts.

Alerts

FT content you want in the way you want

RSS feeds

Another good way of getting alerted to relevant news articles is RSS feeds. You can use our live RSS feeds to automatically deliver FT.com headlines straight to your desktop or mobile. Choose from over 100 RSS feeds and select by region, sector, columnist or site section.

Find the link at the bottom of the right hand side of the front page, or go to <http://www.ft.com/rss>.

Author Alerts

Author alerts allow FT readers to receive daily email digest of articles published by chose authors. With one click, you can add as many journalists as you want to receive in one email digest.

